

Contact

Description

default watermark

Rhetorical Review covers theatre, film, music, dance, and the artists and non-profit arts organizations behind them. Use the form below to request coverage, set up an interview, ask about dramaturgy services, or just say hello.

Send a message

â?• Back

Thank you for your response. â?¨

Name(required)
Email(required)
Production, organization, or website (optional)
Message

Submit

Prefer email?

editor.rhetoricalreview@gmail.com

Requesting a review? Please include the title, company or venue, dates, and a link to press materials if you have them.

A note on availability

My time is very limited. Iâ??m a single mom and a PhD candidate, and my top priorities are my family and finishing my PhD. That means I canâ??t say yes to every review request, even though I want to. When I do take on a review, my priority is BIPOC playwrights and productions that feature BIPOC artists, especially Indigenous artists, because that is what my dissertation centers on. When I canâ??t review a show, I still try to feature local productions on Instagram. Thank you for understanding.

Requesting a review? Please consider donating. Rhetorical Review is independent and reader-supported, and donations help cover the time, travel, and costs that go into thoughtful arts coverage. Donations are never required and never affect whether or how a production is reviewed.

default watermark

Donate on Venmo
Donate on PayPal

Please note: Rhetorical Review does not accept sponsored posts, SEO placements, paid guest posts, or any content created for link-building purposes.

Helpful links

- Publication Policies: submission guidelines, editorial values, and citation expectations.
- Accessibility Statement: our commitment to inclusive, readable, and accessible content.
- About: who is behind Rhetorical Review.

Follow along

Date
2026/10/30
Date Created
2023/11/09
Author
keola06